

Span Air

In a world where time is money, flying with Span Air is well worth every rupee or dollar you spend

Span Air is a pioneer in the area of private air charter services in India. It recognizes your need for customized air travel services based on your comfort and schedule, rather than that of others.

This is why you'll find that the fleet of aircraft we put at your disposal are equipped not only to take you to almost every corner of the country at any time you want, but also to indulge your need for luxury, comfort and privacy.

We know you work hard, and naturally you would love to play even harder. Which is why our business jets and helicopters easily switch from business to pleasure mode and can land you in some of the most exclusive holiday destinations around the world. For instance you can actually fly directly to places like Mauritius, Phuket and Bali from New Delhi without the hassle of changing flights at mid-route airports.

At Span Air we have one of the youngest fleets of aircraft in India, including a brand new ultra luxury Hawker 900XP Jet and have been in operation for more than thirteen years. We are an approved operator audited by M/s Hart Aviation and a corporate member of the Rotor Wing Society of India.

Span Air is the Owner of India's First New Twin Engine Helicopter Bell-429. Depending on your need and destination, you can choose from our range of aircraft.

For journeys up to 500 kilometres, or to small and remote places where there are no airstrips we recommend you choose from our range of helicopters. For longer distances you can choose from our luxury jet and turbo prop aircraft fleets. Each aircraft is designed for comfort, keeping in mind all the things you'd expect from a modern boardroom or luxury hotel suite. This includes on-board refreshments, entertainment, in-flight information and business tools such as telephone, fax, email and even a laptop projector should you desire to make a presentation on board one of our jets!

When it comes to making international trips, there's nothing like our ultra-luxury Hawker 900XP. Because we not only give you all the service you'd expect in commercial business class, we also cut out the long-winded security and check-in formalities, we actually take off whenever you want! As if that weren't enough, we can fly you direct to most cities in Asia and the Middle East!
